SOVIET PLAN FOR SUMMIT MEETING UNACCEPTABLE SEC. DULLES DECLARES

Washington, (P)—Secretary of State Dulles said today Russia's proposal for a presummit foreign ministers' meeting is unacceptable on terms the Russians laid down.

Dulles told a news conference the United States is in favor of a summit meeting and wants preparations for it that will lead to substantial achievements for peace.

But this country, he said, wants no part of any fraud or hoax which would merely fool people.

Next Move in FCC Inquiry Is Uncertain

WASHINGTON (P)—House investigators whose pounding brought the resignation of Commissioner Richard A. Mack showed signs of indecision today on the issue of seeking testimony from senators mentioned in the FCC inquiry.

There was a brief but sharp discussion in open session of whether and how testimony may be sought from senators and from Col. Gordon Moore, brother-in-law of Mrs. Eisenhower.

Chairman Harris (D-Ark) of the Special Commerce subcommittee cut off the talk by announcing a closed session would be held later in the day—2:30 p. m.—to discuss further proceedings.

In the brief exchange, Rep. Wolvertson (R-NJ) said it was his opinion that the question whether senators appear before the subcommittee should not "rest entirely with the desire of the individual... where the witness is important enough, the subcommittee should indicate its desire."

Harris said he interprets the rules of the House to provide that a committee of one branch may not ask members of another to appear, but he said that of course any senators who wished to testify would be welcome.

Wolvertson said, "I don't think we would violate a rule by extending an invitation." (Turn to Page Twelve)

Foreign Aid Chief Facing Baptism Of Fire Today

WASHINGTON (P)—Foreign aid chief James H. Smith Jr. faced a baptism of fire today in opening his defense of President Eisenhower's $3,900,000,000 request before the House Foreign Affairs Committee.

Chairman Morgan (D-Pa) said he looked for a "pretty hot session" as the House group prepared questions about reports that U.S. aid has gone for such projects as:

1. A study of sex habits in India.
2. Bathrooms for Egyptian camel drivers.
3. Striped trousers for Greek junkyardmen.

Morgan told a newsman it is too early to say yet how the disputed measure will fare on Capitol Hill this year. But one committee member predicted Congress will chop down the request by a billion dollars just as it did last year.

Widening of Second Avenue Block Urged by Retailers

According to a news release from the office of Executive Vice President Charles R. Tranter the Retail Merchant Division of the Warren Area Chamber of Commerce last night passed a resolution urging city council to approve plans for widening Second avenue between Liberty and Market street and installing parking meters on the north side.

The Retailers thus gave its support to the Warren Borough Parking Authority which has already recommended the widening project to council. Jake Levinson, Parking Authority Chairman, told the retail committee that the widening job could be done for about $7,000

Dulles said the great danger in the present East-West debate over a summit meeting is that the Soviets want to substitute the fiction that the cold war has ended for the reality of the cold war.

Dulles declared flatly that at present he knows of no major issues which in the light of known Soviet and Western positions offered any likelihood of agreement at a summit conference.

But, Dulles continued, this does not mean prospects are hopeless because some possibilities of agreement may be opened up by careful and substantial work in advance of a summit meeting. He described the U. S. position in approaching East-West talks as flexible.

U. S. officials previously had described as far too early the June date suggested by Russia for a meeting at the summit.

This was not their only objection to a new Soviet program for setting up a conference this year of President Eisenhower, Premier Bulganin and other heads of government.

Flood Threat Is Diminishing in Kittanning Area

KITTANNING, Pa. (P)—Police of this Armstrong County town said today threat of flooding appears diminishing as water flows freely through a six-mile long ice gorge on the Allegheny River.

A six-mile plug of jagged ice has piled up since last week between Lock No. 9 near Rimerton and Lock No. 9 near Mosgrove.

Observers said the position of the ice hasn't changed but that the backed up water had sliced new channels, allowing for a safe runoff.

It has been feared that a sudden break in the jam would allow the excess water to rush downstream, flooding low-lying areas.

Truck Operator Found Trapped in Wreckage

WAYNESBURG, Pa. (P)—A critically injured man was trapped in the cab of his wrecked truck on Route 19 three miles north of Waynesburg for more than an hour today before he could be freed.

Hughes was trapped after his five-ton milk truck crashed into a ditch. Rescue workers used winches to rip open the shattered truck cab to free him. They could not use cutting torches because the truck's gasoline tank ruptured, spilling gas on the ground.

BAKERS PLAN FIGHT

CINCINNATI (P)—The Bakery and Confectionary Workers International Union and the Teamsters, both ousted from the AFL-CIO, are scheduled to lock up their mutual assistance pact even tighter today.

Each was booted out of the AFL-CIO on charges of corrupt leadership.

ALGIERS (P)—Embattled French troops now face their most severe challenge in rebellion-torn Algeria.

Muslim nationalists waging a fierce 40-month-old war against the French have begun their long-heralded "spring offensive."

For the first time since the rebellion began Nov. 1, 1954, the French are facing strong, disciplined rebel units, armed with modern equipment in fair quantities and trained for their tasks.

In place of the primitive shotguns and hunting weapons of the early days, the 480,000-man French army in Algeria meets modern machine guns, mortars and antitank weapons.

French military authorities admit that the rebel "Algerian Liberation Army" has begun to reorganize from hit-and-run guerrilla warfare to coordinated operations of groups armed with infantry support weapons.

Search Still on For 11 Missing In Bus Tragedy

PRESTONBURG, Ky. (P)—Volunteers manned boats, stood vigil on river banks and joined Navy divers and National Guardsmen in a search for 11 still-missing children in a watery grave in the Big Sandy River.

They expanded the search today under direction of Bradis Goble, who lost two nephews and a niece when a school bus plunged into the river Friday.

Only one body was found yesterday. It was believed recovery of the others would be slow.

The bodies of 14 other youngsters and their driver were recovered Sunday in their mud-filled school bus.

"I have lost more in this than anybody outside of the parents," Goble said. "We'll work around the clock. We're determined to find the children."

One of Goble's nephews, John Goble, 11, has been found. His other niece and nephew, Anna and James, are still missing.

BROKERS' LICENSES

HARRISBURG (P)—The State Real Estate Commission decided yesterday to process the examinations of all but 57 applicants for real estate brokers' and salesmen's licenses. Some 800 applicants are involved.

The commission decided to review the 57 applications because of questions raised about their qualifications.

Congress Expected to Enact Laws Providing for Acting President in an Emergency

Washington, (P)—Republican leaders predicted today the White House arrangement under which Vice President Nixon would take over as acting chief executive if President Eisenhower becomes disabled will spur Congress to act on the subject.

Senate GOP Leader Knowland of California and Rep. Martin of Massachusetts, his House counterpart, expressed that view to newsmen after their regular weekly meeting with Eisenhower.

Prominent Congress members of both parties earlier had voiced approval of the procedure worked out between Eisenhower and the vice president—applicable only to themselves.

Knowland reported that the GOP leaders informed Eisenhower that they go along with the arrangement whereby Nixon would serve as acting president if Eisenhower becomes unable to perform his duties.

Knowland said the feeling among the Republican leaders is that such an arrangement is "important in the day and age in which we live."

The senator added, however, that approval of the Eisenhower-Nixon understanding "does not foreclose the desirability of congressional action" on a long-range basis.

Knowland noted that the administration still favors handling the matter by a constitutional amendment rather than through simple legislation.

Knowland said, too, that he understands a group of Democratic and Republican senators will introduce a bill today to deal with the situation.

The main sponsors, he added, are Sens. Kefauver (D-Tenn.) and Dirksen (R-Ill.).

Knowland indicated, without specifically saying so, that the administration regards the bill as substantially in line with its own views.

A reporter asked whether Knowland regards the Eisenhower-Nixon arrangement as likely to make Congress complacent so far as action on a permanent system is concerned. Knowland replied that to the contrary he looks for the arrangement to stimulate action by Congress.

Martin agreed with Knowland. He said some Democrats still favor simple legislation, rather than a constitutional amendment, and declined to predict which course the House may follow.

While announcement of the Eisenhower-Nixon arrangement yesterday was well received, differences of opinion cropped up on whether it would give Nixon sufficient constitutional authority to act and whether Eisenhower legally could reclaim his office.

Oil City Mayor Is Dem. Candidate for Senate

OIL CITY (P)—Mayor R. R. Van Kirk, of Oil City, has announced he will be a candidate for the Democratic nomination for state senator from the 48th District. Van Kirk is the first Democrat to win the mayor's office in Oil City in 40 years. He has served three years of a four year term. The 48th District is made up of Warren and Venango counties.

Dr. Leroy E. Chapman of Warren is the incumbent. He has represented the Warren-Venango district for many years. Dr. Chapman announced recently he would seek reelection on the Republican ticket.

Wyoming Newspaper Is Ducking Issue

CHEYENNE, Wyo. (P)—On page 10 of a Cheyenne newspaper appeared a letter to the editor wondering what happened to the flock of 27 ducks which stayed in a lake at the city park all summer.

On page 12, under the heading "Today's Recipe," was the selection "Danish Wild Duck with Sour Cream," contributed by Mrs. Val S. Christensen, the mayor's wife.

The mayor was quick to explain. He said the ducks had moved to warmer quarters for the winter—not to the Christensen dinner table.

G. O. P. Steering Committee Still Works on Slate

By BOB HOLTON

HARRISBURG (P)—A 23-member steering committee today looked over 13 potential candidates for the one most capable of waging a "successful campaign" on the Republican ticket for governor in November.

The special committee was named last night by Republican State Chairman George I. Bloom after unanimous agreement on the plan was given at a three-hour meeting of state and local party leaders.

The committee, composed of people Bloom said "know the relative strength of GOP registration and voting power," also was directed to recommend party candidates for U.S. senator, lieutenant governor and internal affairs secretary.

Bloom said the committee, headed by himself, will submit its recommendations Friday or Saturday for consideration by the GOP State Committee. It meets here tomorrow at 1:30 p.m.

Too Much Partisanship In Parties Andrews Says

HARRISBURG (P)—Rep. H. G. Andrews (D-Cambria), House Democratic floor leader, says that the slatemaking sessions of both major political parties have "nothing to do with representative government."

In an address to a Harrisburg civic organization yesterday, Andrews said that both parties show too much partisanship "that will destroy the kind of government it was designed to serve."

New Meeting to Discuss Hijacked Plane Passengers

SEOUL, Korea (P)—The Communists called another meeting Thursday of the Military Armistice Commission "for the purpose of returning those who wish to return" from the hijacked South Korean airliner.

The Communists request for the new meeting contained no mention of their previous requirement of direct negotiations between North Korea and governments of the 34 persons on the plane that flew into North Korea Feb. 16.

Representatives of the U.N. Command rejected the previous Red demand yesterday at a meeting at which North Korea had indicated earlier it would hand over the two Americans, two West Germans and some of the 30 South Koreans on the plane.

The U.N. Command said representatives of the U.S., West Germany and South Korean governments would attend Thursday's meeting at Panmunjom to receive their own nationals.

U. S. Soldiers Face Charges for Korean Incident

SEOUL (P)—A U.S. Army spokesman said today charges would be filed soon against three American soldiers accused of mistreating a Korean boy and nailing him in a box after they caught him stealing.

The spokesman said, meanwhile, the three are not under arrest or restricted in any way pending completion of a provost marshal's investigation to determine what the charges will be.

The Korean government marked time after filing a strong protest with the American Embassy, in the absence of a status of forces agreement under which Korea might claim jurisdiction in the case.

South Korea has been demanding such an agreement for months. But government and police officials took a cautious position in the case of 14-year-old Kim Choon Il while at the same time expressing grave concern. Responsible officials said privately they feared the incident would provide the Communists with another propaganda issue.

The boy is now in an American-supported orphanage.

Restrictions on Foreign Oil Imports Are Urged

Washington (P)—Thine coal and independent oil industries joined forces today to press a united demand on Congress for restriction of foreign fuel oil imports.

They charged that the post-war increase in oil imports threatened the national security by jeopardizing the nation's wartime dependence on domestic fuel sources.

Voicing lack of confidence in existing voluntary agreements for limiting the volume of foreign fuel oil imports, spokesmen for the Independent Petroleum Assn. of America and the National Coal Assn. called for revamping the reciprocal trade program to protect their industries.

FURMAN DECISION NOT TO WITHDRAW ASSURES HOT PRIMARY FIGHT IN STATE

By LEONARD A. UNGER
HARRISBURG (P)—Mayor David L. Lawrence of Pittsburgh, drafted as the Democratic organization candidate for governor, today pledged an all-out campaign to win the nomination in the May 20 primary.

Gov. Leader, 40, teamed up with Lawrence, 68, and made public his own candidacy for U.S. Senator at the close of a five-hour slatemaking parley yesterday.

The basis for a rousing primary fight shaped up with new insistence by Lt. Gov. Roy E. Furman that he would run for governor despite the Lawrence draft. Furman said he was "swamped" with calls to stay in the race.

But unanimous endorsement by leaders of some of the most powerful Democratic organizations in the state gave the Pittsburgh mayor the edge toward success in May.

"I don't think there's any question of our winning," Lawrence told a newsman when asked about the Furman candidacy. "We're going to conduct an intensive statewide campaign that will carry us right through the fall."

Democratic slatemakers, after hammering out the Lawrence compromise, chose Miss Genevieve Blatt, Pittsburgh, as their candidate for a second term as Secretary of Internal Affairs.

They reportedly left to U. S. Rep. William J. Green Jr., Philadelphia Democratic chairman, the task of recommending a Philadelphia as the organization candidate for lieutenant governor.

Councilman Victor E. Moore was mentioned as Green's leading choice for the post.

The entire ticket will be placed before the full 62-member Democratic Policy Committee tomorrow for what is expected to be routine endorsement although Furman adherents may try to block it.

Leader, lavish in his praise of what he termed the "good government" qualifications held by Lawrence, said he would make a formal announcement of his senatorial candidacy during the day.

He will seek the post to be left open by the retirement of U. S. Sen. Edward Martin, a Republican.

The governor lost out on his efforts to draft Mayor Richardson Dilworth of Philadelphia as the organization's gubernatorial choice but gained a partial victory in the slating of Lawrence.

Leader had said in advance that he wouldn't run for the Senate unless the gubernatorial candidate was chosen from among a list of so-called "good government" candidates.

Texas Committeeman Is Exonerated by Party

AUSTIN, Tex. (P)—Texas Republican leaders decided yesterday their national committeeman, Jack Porter, did no wrong when he raised $100,000 by throwing a testimonial dinner for Rep. Joseph Martin of Massachusetts.

Porter solicited financial support for the affair by suggesting it was a good way to show appreciation of Martin's friendly attitude toward the controversial natural gas bill pending in Congress.

When this came out, the Republican National Committee announced it would have no part of the $100,000. The White House concurred.

Supreme Court Decision Is Vital to Former Army Cook

WASHINGTON (P)—John Henry Harmon III, erstwhile Army cook, may get an honorable discharge to replace the general one he now holds.

Legally, that means Harmon may be buried among the country's heroes in Arlington National Cemetery if he, or his widow, so requests. With his general discharge, he already was entitled to all other veterans' benefits.

But a decision of the U.S. Supreme Court yesterday means much more than that to the 26-year-old Bucknell University graduate, once accused of being sympathetic to communism. He denied the charge.

Among other things, it means

MAYOR LAWRENCE

PITTSBURGH (P)—Many politicians expressed surprise yesterday after Mayor David Lawrence of Pittsburgh was endorsed by party leaders for the Democratic gubernatorial nomination. But not his wife.

Mrs. Lawrence said she knew five days ago her husband would run for governor. Asked how she knew, she declared:

"I talked to him and it was obvious that he would be the candidate."

Last week Lawrence publicly disavowed any intent to become governor.

105,000 Garment Workers Ordered Out Wednesday

NEW YORK (P)—The International Ladies Garment Workers Union has ordered 105,000 workers in seven Eastern states to strike the dress industry tomorrow morning.

This would be the first major walkout in the billion-dollar-a-year industry in 25 years.

The strike order, issued last night from the ILGWU's Dress Joint Board, followed fruitless efforts by City Labor Commissioner Harold A. Felix to mediate a contract dispute.

The industry's pre-Easter dress production is threatened. However, David Dubinsky, president of the ILGWU, and Julius Hochman, general manager of the joint board, expressed hope that the situation would be brief.

Many manufacturers are counting on the Easter season to hold down their losses in this recession year.

Contract negotiations came to a halt Saturday with the union demanding a 15 per cent wage increase, a 35-hour week for piece workers and other improvements.

VENANGO FATALITY

BUTLER, Pa. (P)—An auto and a tractor-trailer collided yesterday on Route 38 just north of Eau Claire in Venango County, fatally injuring Mrs. Lillian G. Stewart, 45, of Boyers R.D. 1.

FORMER SHERIFF DIES

UNIONTOWN, Pa. (P)—Ira I. Shaw, 81, sheriff of Fayette County from 1920 to 1924, died today in Uniontown Hospital. He was a Uniontown resident.

Marlow Looks At TODAY'S NEWS

By JAMES MARLOW (AP News Analyst)

WASHINGTON — President Eisenhower asked Congress to tell out just how a vice president takes over if a president is too disabled to do his job. Congress kidded around. Somebody had to act. So Eisenhower did.

What he did was simple and direct. Time may show faults in it. But at least he acted. Any protests from Congress now will have a hollow ring. If the lawmakers he had already arranged with Nixon for just such a situation. He showed no signs of wanting to disclose the arrangement until protests came from Congress. Yesterday he disclosed it. This was it.

If Eisenhower becomes unable to carry out his duties he will — if still able to do that much — tell Nixon to act as president until he recovers. If Eisenhower can't tell Nixon what to do, Nixon himself will decide whether to act as president.

The White House statement further said if Eisenhower recovers he — not Nixon — will decide when his disability is ended and he can resume his job.

Note: This statement at no place says Nixon will actually become president. It simply says he will be acting as president. This apparently was intended to meet arguments that, if a vice president once took the presidential oath, the elected president never again could resume the presidency.

It's possible some decisions made by Nixon as acting president might be challenged in the courts. But Eisenhower appears to have decided to meet one problem at a time, the biggest one first.

In this nuclear age it might be fatal for the country if, in a moment of emergency, a stricken president was unable to function and no arrangements had been made for the vice president to act for him.

"I'VE BEEN FEELING BETTER LATELY..

and here's how I've got it figured out"

After making this statement to his studio audience, Arthur Godfrey said: "I've been using Niagara Cyclo-Massage® these past few weeks... and I do believe it helps me to relieve tension and nervous fatigue due to overwork and over-exercise. It also helps me sleep better... and I think it does these things through increased circulation of blood. Now I don't suffer from arthritis, but they tell me that Niagara Cyclo-Massage® is terrific for chronic arthritis pains, too."

Clinical research in leading institutions has repeatedly proved the accuracy of Mr. Godfrey's statements. And many thousands of individual users have discovered for themselves the exceptional health-promoting benefits made possible through Niagara. An amazing, drugless "miracle of science," it provides soothing, gently penetrating massage action that fills one with a wonderful feeling of well being.

David O. Selznick's Cinemascope, De Luxe Color production of Ernest Hemingway's "A Farewell to Arms," a Twentieth Century-Fox release starts Wednesday at the Library Theatre, starring Rock Hudson, Jennifer Jones and Vittorio De Sica, is a truly international production.

In the cast are the Spanish star, Jose Nieto; two French actors, Victor Francen and Georges Brehat; Greek-born Alex Revidis; American TV beauty Joan Shawlee; Irishman Patrick Crean; London stage and screen star Diana King; Egyptian-born Peter Illing; four of Germany's top entertainers: Johanna Hofer, Eduard Linkers, Carlo Hintermann and Eva Kotthaus.

Of course, Vittorio De Sica, one of the stars in the Hungarian-born Charles Vidor directed epic, is Italy's top male star.

The Hall of Fame for Cowboys is located at Oklahoma City, capital of Oklahoma.

In exactly sixteen days, some young person in Warren county will be able to breathe a deep sigh of relief and consider himself extremely fortunate, for at that time the Warren Jaycees will announce the name of the Community Ambassador for 1958.

David Swanson, project chairman, has announced that to date twelve applications have been received, but he emphasizes the fact that applications will be honored until the final date of the drive which is March 18, 1958.

In order to qualify for the privilege of being the Community Ambassador, the applicant must be single between the ages of sixteen and thirty, and a resident of Warren county for at least a year. Anyone who meets these qualifications and will have reached or passed his senior year in high school by

Postal Pay Raise Measure Is Facing Uncertain Future

By JOE HALL

WASHINGTON (U)—The Senate has passed bills that would sharply raise postal rates and the pay of 1½ million federal workers. But the postal measure faces a highly uncertain future.

Republicans predicted the postal bill would be vetoed by President Eisenhower because the pay boost it would provide for 500,000 postal workers is far greater than what the administration wants.

Raises for one million classified civil service workers, included in a separate bill, are more in line with administration recommendations.

Democrats said they believed the House would decline to accept the temporary 5-cent stamp on non-local letters, the main new rate feature in the Senate bill. They said they were sure the House would insist on a flat 4-cent letter rate which it voted last year for first class mail.

The rate increases voted by the Senate last week would bring in about 732 millions annually each of the next three years. But the pay boosts passed yesterday would total 737 millions, more than offsetting the new revenue.

In passing its rate bill last year, the House approved increases that would bring in 327 million dollars a year in new revenue. The House rate bill contained no provisions for postal pay increases.

Sen. Carlson (R-Kan), administration spokesman on postal legislation, said it might take months for Senate-House conferees to work out solutions of problems involved in the postal rate-pay measure.

But he said in an interview he is hopeful the postal pay raise could be brought down to a figure which would be acceptable to Eisenhower.

The President last September vetoed bills that would have allowed an average pay hike of 12½ cents for postal workers and 11 per cent for classified employees. These were not tied in with rate increase legislation.

The Senate last night tacked on to its rate bill an amendment to boost the pay of postal employees by an average of 12½ per cent.

This would include a 7½ per cent hike to each employee, plus cost-of-living bonuses for low-paid workers. The total cost would be about 320 million dollars a year. Before the postal bill was passed by voice vote, Carlson offered a proposal for a flat 8½ per cent pay raise. This was 1 per cent higher than he had been willing to go before and 2½ per cent more than Eisenhower recommended last month. But Carlson's substitute was rejected 54-29.

Also passed by voice vote was a separate measure to give the one million classified civil service employees a 7½ per cent pay raise. This would cost about 417 millions annually.

Archbishop Gannon Reveals Gifts to Diocesan Schools

Erie—Archbishop John Mark Gannon, bishop of Erie, told a crowd of nearly 1,000 laymen Sunday afternoon that he plans to give gifts of $100,000 each toward the construction of six regional high schools after the costs of building each school are realized in the current Erie Catholic Diocese fund drive.

The Archbishop addressed men and women from every parish in Erie and Erie County in St. Peter's Cathedral Sunday to kick off the "general, house-to-house" phase of the campaign to raise $5,000,000 to build six new high schools, a new seminary and five religious instruction centers.

Archbishop Gannon indicated he has enough money from past contributions to give the $100,000 bonus to each of the six schools, and would do so after the laymen fulfill their quotas in the fund-raising drive.

The need for moral education of youth was cited by the Archbishop as the prime reason for building the high schools in six diocesan cities and catechetical centers in five less-populated areas.

Turning to the need for an adequate seminary to replace the crowded and aging structure on E. 3rd that now served for the education of priests, the Archbishop pointed out that three priests have died in the past year and three more are in hospitals. A shortage of priests has prevented him from establishing new parishes in places where they are needed, he said.

Ground has already been broken for a new St. Mark's Seminary, to be built on a hilltop southeast of Erie. Construction this spring and summer will follow current grading and excavating operations.

Laymen who assembled in the Cathedral Sunday and others like them throughout the 12-county diocese this week will begin a door-to-door campaign to solicit contributions toward the $5,000,000 goal. An earlier drive, conducted among a smaller group of individuals, saw nearly half the $5,000,000 goal realized in large, memorial gifts

GOODWILL PICKUP—One of the many handicapped workers at the Buffalo Goodwill Industries is shown unpacking cartons of the small household items which are especially needed at this season. Regular collections for the Industries will resume this month and anyone having articles such as these, or used clothing they wish to contribute may do so by calling Mariou Andelegg at 3021. The first pickup of the year will be made on Monday, March 10th.

UNDERLED ACE SETS IN SPADES

BY OSWALD JACOBY
Written for NEA Service

East and West have a lay-down for five hearts but West did not choose to double the one spade opening with nothing in clubs. At his second turn he might have used the unusual no-trump to ask his partner to bid one of the red suits but he chose to pass again.

When North and South finally got to four spades West decided to double and saved something from the wreckage. South mis-played the hand and went down.

South won the opening diamond lead with the ace and led a spade. West played the nine and North the queen. South returned to his hand with the ace of clubs and led a second spade. West took his ace, cashed the queen of diamonds, and then made the brilliant lead of a low heart. East won with the king and returned a club which West ruffed.

How did South misplay the hand? He was almost sure to lose a heart eventually and

SALUTE TO 4-H CLUB WEEK

More than 2,000,000 boy and girl are participating in celebrating National 4-H Club Week, March 1 to 8. All across the nation the spotlight falls on the achievements of this progressive group of youngsters from now until Saturday.

Purpose of the week is to broaden the education of rural youth through visits to points of agricultural, industrial, civic and cultural interest as well as through contact with people from other states and countries.

The term 4-H signifies Head, Heart, Hands and Health—a significant combination of faculties that needs training and development for responsible citizenship.

The theme is a "4-H Salute to Parents" by these young people, between ten and 21 years of age, who are eligible to be members of the nation's 4-H clubs.

Nationally, 4-H Club Week is being highlighted in the nation's capital, Washington, D. C., when six top 4-H club members present the annual 4-H club "Report to the Nation." In stories and pictures, the report will summarize the 4-H accomplishments, and pay attention to the 4-H parents who helped make the achievements possible.

The 4-H'ers expect to review the report with President Dwight D. Eisenhower, personally at the White House. They also plan to visit Secretary of Agriculture Ezra Taft Benson and C. M. Ferguson, administrator of the Federal Extension Service.

Along with the 4-H'ers and their parents, honorees will go to the 358 thousand volunteer 4-H leaders who have helped guide 4-H work throughout the nation.

The overall purpose of National 4-H Club Week is to inform everyone about the meaning and value of the 4-H program . . . to invite boys and girls to join 4-H . . . to help new members in starting 4-H projects . . . and to honor 4-H parents and leaders.

Saturday, March 8, at 7:00 p. m. at the Y. M. C. A., Warren County 4-H'ers will celebrate annual 4-H Fun Night, according to Bernard Wingert, associate county agent. The program will include swimming, dancing, games, refreshments, and a magician show.

We are happy to join in the observance of National 4-H Club Week, March 1-8.

WELCOME, SWEET SPRINGTIME

With the exception of the Southwest, including southern California, this turned out to be quite a winter. If we are in the mild end of a weather cycle, or in a long-range warming trend, then obviously the chart has sagged badly this season.

The weather men say that whereas a couple of massive high-pressure areas usually sit over continental America in wintertime, this year two great "lows" are there instead. They've pushed the high altitude jet stream much farther south than usual, and that helps to explain frostbite in Virginia and poor swimming conditions in Florida.

This may or may not be an "old-fashioned" winter. But it seems to have been close enough to stir a lot of reminiscences. New York is recalling the blizzard of 1888, and the days when you could walk on thick ice around the harbor and across the East River. Chicago need look back only to the mid-1930's, when for a month it had an average temperature—around the clock—of five degrees above zero.

The spring due in this hemisphere March 21 is one that surely will be welcomed far and wide with general revelry. Count the days.

Daily Lenten Devotions

from The Upper Room

Read Psalm 130.

To the Lord our God belong mercies and forgivenesses, though we have rebelled against him. (Daniel 9:9)

When I was twenty years old, I lived such a sinful life that I judged it impossible to obtain divine pardon. But one day I received a Bible and read that God pardons even the chief of sinners. Falling prostrate at His feet, I insistently begged His pardon for my sins and felt, an immense joy in my heart. I became a new creature.

For more than twenty years now I have been a pastor in Brazil. By the grace of God, I have been able to lead hundreds of persons to Christ.

"To the Lord our God belong mercies and forgivenesses." Let us confess our sins to Him and ask for His pardon, that we may have that peace and joy we so greatly need. In the First Epistle of John we read: "If we confess our sins, he is faithful and just to forgive us our sins, and to cleanse us from all unrighteousness."

PRAYER

O God, we thank Thee for Thy pardon which comforts and encourages us so. Help us to learn to pardon our debtors, even as Thou hast forgiven us. In the name of Jesus Christ, our dear Saviour. Amen.

THOUGHT FOR THE DAY

"Forgive us our debts, as we forgive our debtors."

Here and There

Arch Bristow, an illustrious fan of Warren's more prominent business places and beauty, devoted his column twice in an area paper last week, first to the topic "Warren Has Historic Beauty" and again with "People Like Warren's Theater", which of course, is none other than the Stanley-Warner Library Theater managed by George Sarvis. Of topic No. 1, Arch writes, "Warren, 'Rose of the Allegheny', is in full bloom but it is a white rose now, blossomed with winter's snow, except at night, when glowing reds, yellows, blues and greens, of its many Neons, trail undulating ribbons of color in the river. Visitors in Warren always remark on the beauty of the town at night, for the high, curving bank of the historic Allegheny provides a perfect stage, the river furnishes the footlights, the town, with its handsome homes, beautiful stone churches, completes the setting. Warren has never had a slum. There was a time, not many years ago, when it was the richest town of its size in the United States. This, however, should not be held against it. As Warren, even today, has some of the most democratic millionaires in the country . . .

"When a poor man shakes hands with a very rich man, the thought sometimes comes to the poor man, 'This hand, that is holding mine so warmly, could write a check for ten million dollars' . . . You happen to know the Texas Oil Co.—'Texaco', was originally organized in a farm house near Warren? But nearer Clarendon, 'Rockwell' was the name."

Then there is the following comment about Warren's popular playhouse and its manager for over 40 years . . . And then, there's quite another reason why everybody loves the Library Theater, Warren. That reason is George Sarvis, who has managed the Library for a number of years. That fact is, George Sarvis would come very close to being the best known and best liked man in Warren . . .

The "Sage of Garland" columnist, relates his visit with Mr. Sarvis, his office and the interior of the theater itself.

The following interesting self-explanatory letter has been received from (Mrs.) Louise Wood, "The Sanctuary," Route 2, Box 264, Martinsville, Indiana:

February 26

"The Editor, The Times-Mirror, Warren, Pennsylvania.

"Dear Sir: The Sanctuary, a refuge for homeless dogs, with a staff of one fighting woman, will be glad for help of any sort from those who love dogs. We need food (of any sort) and old blankets or pieces. We can use condensed or powdered milk, cod liver oil, vitamins, wheat germ, yeast tablets, surgical powder, olive oil and old towels. Just about anything can find a use here and no amount is too small to be applicable and to have our everlasting gratitude. Will you, by publishing this, allow us to ask of your readers' generosity for the 45 dogs we have here now. With all good wishes—Louise Wood!"

The rocket age has brought a new worry to folks concerned with the nation's safety. Home-made rocketry, the National Safety Council says, has produced homemade injuries. The Council said cases involving injuries to amateur rocketeers are beginning to fill its files.

Jack J. McDowell, Bradford attorney, well known in Warren where he has been a frequent visitor in connection with political and Shrine activities, who last January was elevated to Zem Temple Potentate, has resigned his post because of ill health, news that will be learned with genuine regret by scores of friends in the area. At a special meeting in Erie last week William A. Richard, of Erie, was elected successor to Mr. McDowell.

★ EDSON IN WASHINGTON ★

Both Parties Hope 'Pee-pul' Will Refill Empty Coffers

BY PETER EDSON
NEA Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON—(NEA)—Republican and Democratic parties have now formally kicked off their 1958 campaigns with $100-a-plate-or-less telecast dinners from Washington, New York, Chicago and way points.

These affairs have been greeted with resounding apathy by most voters. This apathy is best measured by the difficulty both parties are having in raising money. Which isn't surprising.

What with the missile mess, the beginnings of a depression, the Texas oilmen's $100,000 dinner and the hullabaloo over Federal Communications Commission's padded expense accounts, no one can be expected to have much enthusiasm for politicians.

If this seems to reflect more discredit on Republicans than Democrats, that's only one part of the story. With two months of this Democratic-controlled session of Congress now gone, the only solid accomplishments are the passage of one supplemental appropriation bill to provide more money for missiles and the raising of the national debt limit five billion dollars.

NOBODY WANTS to give money to support such politics. So it's no wonder that Democrats and Republicans are endorsing a joint "educational" campaign this year to persuade the voters that now is the time to come to the aid of their party.

This year it's a necessity because both parties are broke. The Republicans took in $827,000 last year and spent $1,131,000. Only reason the GOP didn't go in the red was that there was some money left over from 1956 contributions.

Democrats are even less fortunate. They have a $700,000 deficit from 1956. They hope to raise $900,000 for 1958. With around $300,000 raised the first two months of this year, they have just about met current expenses.

THAT'S WHY Democratic Chairman Paul Butler is talking up this new fund-raising campaign which he and GOP Chairman Meade Alcorn have agreed to cooperate on this year.

It will be sponsored by American Heritage Foundation to give it respectability. Advertising Council, Inc., will run one of its public service campaigns to sell the idea that more people should contribute to the political party of their choice.

If more little people can be persuaded to make a financial investment in politics, it's figured they'll demand a cleanup.

Footo, Cone & Belding advertising agency in New York has been chosen to prepare copy, line up free ad space in newspapers and magazines, free time on the air for radio and TV.

THE CAMPAIGN will start in May. It will taper off in summer, pick up again from Labor Day to Election Day in November.

It will be up to workers in the two parties to do the actual collecting of funds in national, state and local drives.

Any community that wants to can, of course, run a bipartisan campaign under Chamber of Commerce, union political action committees or any other public service sponsorship.

Under such an arrangement the money collected would be divided 50-50 or in proportion to number of registered voters.

A trial heat on this kind of campaign has just been run in Alexandria, in west central Minnesota, with good results. John Overton, city editor of the Park Region Echo of Alexandria, is given major credit for putting it over.

Deaf Man Perfects Cordless Hearing Aid

Worn Entirely on One Ear

PEORIA, ILL. (Special)—H. A. Lyons, who himself has been hard of hearing for over 25 years, today announced the perfection of a miniature electronic hearing aid that is so small it is all worn on one ear.

It weighs but a fraction of an ounce and can be slipped on and off easier than a pair of eye glasses. Wearer gets all-directional pick-up and normal use of telephone. There is no clothing interference because it is worn at the ear, which is the natural way to hear.

Since the aid is tiny and is worn tucked behind the ear, it is practically invisible.

Mr. Lyons stated that, although it is powerful enough to fit the most severe hearing loss, it can also be adjusted for the millions of slightly hard of hearing who feel they are not deaf enough to bother with the more cumbersome aids.

It is suggested, if interested for yourself or a friend, to write to Tonemaster Manufacturing Company, 128 South Monroe Street, Dept. B-1, Peoria, Illinois, and he will be glad to send information at no cost or obligation to you.—Adv.

High School Dramatic Club Annual Evening of Plays Is Experimental

The Dramatic Club of Warren High School presented its annual Evening of Plays before a capacity house Saturday night in the school auditorium.

Betty Alexander, production manager, extended a cordial welcome to all in attendance to enjoy the evening's performance. Three one-act plays and scenes from full-length productions.

All players were student-directed and produced, the entire program described as "educational, theatre, part of a plan to develop a healthy, working organization for 'dramatics' in Warren High School."

The first, "The Flittermouse" by Mary Katherine Reely, was a delightful comedy directed by Barbara Berlin and having to do with a flittermouse (bat). In it appeared Sandy Shirk, Sally McCarty, Carolyn Anderson and Pat Madden.

"The Dancers" by Horton Foote was another comedy, in which Sandy Burke directed the following cast: Martha Fey, Nancy Armstrong, Olivia Smith, Cindy Dick, Dick Scalise, Dan

The Mature Parent

Helping Child Voice Money Needs Averts Subterfuge

BY MRS. MURIEL LAWRENCE

SHE writes, "Our 11-year-old girl has been buying school supplies, candy and comics on one of our charge accounts. She says she did it because her allowance is insufficient. We've told her she must give us weekly repayments."

"But I think we should also increase her allowance at once. My husband says this would be rewarding her dishonesty. Do you agree with him?"

No. I think that increasing her allowance would be rewarding this child's first realistic treatment of her economic problem. Up to now she's been solving it like the boy in the fairytale.

HE had an enchanted table. Whenever he was hungry, he'd sit down in front of it and say, "Feed me"—and the table would immediately produce a meal of delicious food. Beyond speaking magic words, the boy made no effort to solve his economic problem. After eating the meal, he didn't even have to bother with dishwashing or garbage disposal. He just said, "Tidy yourself"—and the table was as bare as it had been before.

This child has been behaving just like him. Where the fairytale boy used the magic words "feed me" to solve his economic problem, she has used the magic words "charge it."

Now for the first time she has spoken the risky, difficult words we have to speak in the real world when we have an economic problem. She has said to the people in control of her income, "I need more money."

IF I were her parent, I would respond to her realism with some of my own. I'd say, "Fine. If you'd been brave enough to say that two weeks ago, you would not have got yourself all mixed up with our charge account. Of course you can have more allowance. You figure out how much you must have and we'll start giving it to you right now. This will help you with this stupid debt you've incurred by not facing your need for more money."

If we want responsibility from children, we have to encourage it when it is expressed.

It is not just doing chores and homework. Responsibility is also being able to say, "I need more money, more freedom, more shelves in my room." It is being able to risk parents' possible displeasure at discovering they have a growing human being in their home.

Concert Series Season Memberships on Sale

Warren Junior Chamber of Commerce music committee advises the special "early bird" memberships for the 1958-59 Concert Series season have been placed on sale at the United Cigar Store and the B and B Smoke Shop.

These memberships will make it possible for new members to hear the coming Alec Templeton concert, as well as the three or four concerts which will be scheduled for next season. The Templeton concert is to be held Tuesday, March 11th, in Beatty Junior High School auditorium.

The Jaycees, working with the assistance of a group of interested citizens, have announced a goal of 700 for next season, and the "early bird" membership is the first feature of the current membership drive.

Many inquiries have already been made about the availability of tickets for the Templeton concert, and, because only full-season memberships are ever sold, the bonus feature of the "early bird" membership was devised to enable new members to enjoy this highlight concert of the current season, as well as the complete series next season.

The committee of Jaycees and music lovers now hard at work in their efforts to see the Music Series continued, feels there are more than enough local residents interested in the Series to assure its continuation if those interested will demonstrate their support by subscribing for membership either during this special drive or during the regular membership drive which will commence March 11th.

Membership applications will be available through members of the Junior Chamber of Commerce, as well as from others who have sold tickets in past years.

William Paca, signer of the Declaration of Independence, from Maryland, was of Italian descent.

Wise Woman Never Spoils Illusion of Beauty

EVERY last one of us has a beauty problem of some sort. This includes women who are considered beauties. And we can do one of two things about our problem: ignore it or do something about it.

In this day and age, something can be done about nearly any beauty problem extant. There is help for problem hair, lumpy figures, poor skin, small eyes, or poor coloring.

But if you choose to ignore your problem and live with it, then really ignore it. Don't think you're getting around it by calling attention to it before others can. Don't feel that you're excusing large hips by saying to others, "Oh, I could never wear that. I'm so hippy." They know that you're hippy and there really isn't an answer to a remark like that.

BY ALICIA HART, NEA Beauty Editor

So, if you're going to pretend your beauty problem doesn't exist, maintain the illusion all the way by never referring to it. You won't be the first woman who's used this method successfully.

AMERICAN women have a reputation for being diet and figure conscious. And many of them are. But many more of them are prone to talk diet. They will, they say as they fork up creamed chicken, begin a diet the first of the coming week. Or, they accept a piece of cake, murmuring that they really shouldn't since they're dieting.

There's only one way to go at diet: adhere to it faithfully. Adhere to it but never refer to it. It is not a sparkling topic of conversation. Learn to say, "No, thank you," as gracefully as possible when you're offered fattening foods. And let it go at that, without explanation.

AN unpleasant expression can rob any woman of beauty, no matter how she may be endowed by nature. The brows drawn together, the gimlet eye, the hard lines of dissatisfaction from nose to mouth do not offer a sight lovely to the beholder.

They make any gal, be she teen-ager or grandmother, look 10 years older on the dot. The forbidding, or withdrawn, expression is the equal of the unpleasant expression for driving people away in a hurry.

But a sunny, cheerful expression can, and does, every day, turn a plain girl into the semblance of a beauty. In fact, an expression is a sure thing for making friends and drawing people to your side. The fact is, it's inimitable.

Helen Pendleton Rockwell's Second Cook Book Is Off Presses This Week

The brilliant red and blue hues usually associated with folk illustrations and handicraft provide a gay and eye-catching cover for Helen Pendleton Rockwell's second collection of recipes, "The Amateur Epicure's Cook Book", off the presses of Roy Publishers this week.

This is Mrs. Rockwell's second fine book on the culinary arts; her first, "Here's How", being the work that rallied Marine Captain Richard S. McCutcheon to fame and fortune via TV's "$64,000 Question".

Actually, as the captain corroborates in his foreword to the new volume, "The Amateur Epicure's Cook Book" is invaluable, for, while it may not help anyone to win astronomical sums of money, certainly those who make use of it will win the gastronomic admiration of friends and family.

What makes this book outstanding in its field is its comprehensiveness; its simple presentation, so clear and thorough even a novice can make like a veteran; and its philosophy that food must have eye-appeal as well as flavor and nourishment.

It is aimed at those creative people who want everyday living to be an exciting experience. Cooking being one of Mrs. Rockwell's own vital interests, she has selected recipes best liked for taste, color and imagination, ranging from New Orleans to New England and the continent.

Naturally, she has included full chapters of her own favorite appetizers, fish, meats, etc., but to really turn a cook into a chef, she devotes special sections to such details as stuffings, pickles, and even candy.

Long aware that food is the pivot of holiday celebrations, the local expert tells how to make a Cheese Snowman for the Yuletide; a Cider Sauce for Hallowe'en, how to prepare pumpkin seeds for Thanksgiving nibbling. Here one can learn how to turn a little boy's birthday cake into an edible circus; how to finish off a little girl's dinner party with a Raggedy Ann Salad; how Lemon Ice Bars can turn a warm summer day, quite simply, into a special occasion.

"The Amateur Epicure's Cook Book" contains homely dishes, too, but always there are instructions on how to add that special touch. Those who are tired of the same old vegetables will want to try a spinach ring filled with creamed carrots, or try a caramelized tomato; others who already know how to make a good old-fashioned apple pie will want to look at the next page and be intrigued by the apple-almond pie suggestions. As Captain McCutcheon says, this is a cookbook with "quelquechese".

Helen Pendleton Rockwell, daughter of the famed Marine General "Uncle Joe" Pendleton, has included, along with Captain McCutcheon's foreword, an introduction of her own writing, and the entire volume is accented with lively pen drawings by Irena Lorentowicz, gifted Polish artist.

To Wear or Not to Wear; Age Labels Would Be Boon

CERTAIN styles ought to carry an age limit—"for girls under 25," or "for women under 40," or "not under any condition to be worn by anyone over 18."

A slim little teen-ager may look cute as a bug in long, tight TV pants or crazy pants or whatever they happen to be called. But when you see her mama in the same setup at a neighborhood shopping center, you just wonder why somebody doesn't tell her she's beyond the age for crazy pants.

A pretty young thing may be able to get away with a haircut that makes her look as though it had been done by a power mower. If she is young enough and pretty enough she can get by with almost any kind of haircut. But when you see a woman three times her age with a hair-do that makes you think she has lost both her comb and her mind—it's sad, really sad.

AGE MAKES DIFFERENCE

BLUE jeans don't do anything for feminine grace and beauty. But even they are far more unbecoming to a woman of 40 than to a girl of 14.

A sack dress on a high school girl may remind oldsters of the roaring twenties and seem kind of cute. But on the same girl's mama, the sack dress reminds you of nothing so much as a sack.

And so it goes. When an extreme style makes an appearance, it ought to be clearly labeled as to the age of the woman who can wear it without looking ridiculous.

Maybe the designers and style-setters think women ought to be smart enough to figure it out for themselves.

But a good look at American women would show them that the hardest thing for most women to figure out for themselves is when they have reached an age when they can't afford to risk looking ridiculous.

An age label on fashions would certainly help.

Adaptable Furniture Fits Future Plans for Living

BY KAY SHERWOOD
NEA Staff Writer

ADAPTABILITY is a factor of furniture design that young couples might profitably consider along with pleasing styling and sturdy construction.

If you're just beginning to keep house, it's fairly certain that you'll move at least once and probably several times in the next 10 years. Perhaps, too, you'll be raising a family.

Furniture that can be adapted to changing floor plans, differing needs and the rigors of little children while retaining its look of quality and style is a treasure to be prized.

THERE IS A SELECTION of such furniture this spring. It's not surprising that much of it tends to simple, Scandinavian styling or a contemporary version of Early American.

They're basic, easy to live with and care for; they'll fit into a variety of backgrounds and blend well with other informal styles.

A good example is found in a moderately priced collection designed by Lawrence Peabody. It's Danish in inspiration, but made in America. The wood is oak with a warm, amber finish.

Flexibility of function is incorporated wherever possible. A flat-topped desk has a drop leaf and a removable file drawer on runners under the top.

Remove the drawer, slide the drop leaf into position and you have a dinner table to seat eight. An accessory is a small tabletop chest with two trays which could hold work papers or flatware with equal grace.

Representative of adaptable, practical, clean-lined contemporary furniture is the drop-leaf desk, above, which converts to a dinner table. File drawers can be removed and top is a plastic laminate which matches oak frame. Serving cart, left, extends to buffet length and has a hidden warming compartment.

A serving cart does double duty as a mobile buffet. It has drop leaves, an open shelf, closed cabinet storage and a warming compartment concealed under its top.

CART, CHEST and dining tables in the collection have plastic laminate tops that are resistant to practically everything. The tops are identical matches in color and grain to the wood frames. Even experts have to touch and examine the surfaces in order to tell the difference.

VERSATILE, too, are the several, multipurpose type of cabinets with wood or cane doors now in the market. They're proportioned for stacking on server bases, to stand alone or to be fastened to the walls.

Interiors are fitted with adjustable shelves and are deep enough to take dinner plates, books or what-have-you.

Modern versions of Early American chests and cabinets gain a new addition to their ranks this spring. Open bookcases with adjustable and compartmented shelving can be placed on chests to give greater height and storage capacity.

Bell Company Hits New High In Construction

Bell Telephone Company of Pennsylvania construction expenditures rose to a new high of more than $120 million in 1957, approximately $475,000 for every business day in the year, W. D. Gillen, president of the company, states in Bell's annual report just received.

The principal construction outlays were $35 million for outside plant (lines, cables, etc.), over $32 million for central office equipment and $12½ million for buildings, Gillen reports.

These projects required an increase in capital and $45 million of stock was issued in June 1957. This was in addition to $40 million of stock issued on December 31, 1956, for a total of $85 million.

Company earnings for 1957 were slightly improved as a result of the rate increase approved by the Public Utility Commission in December, 1956. However, Gillen stresses in his report, the increase "was completely inadequate to sustain earnings at satisfactory levels considering the substantial increases in new capital which are required to provide for growth and service improvements that customers want and have a right to expect."

Number of telephones increased in 1957 by 190,338 as compared to the 1956 increase of 217,236. In the past ten years the number of telephones served by the Bell Company has increased 75 per cent and now total 3,819,372.

"Ten years ago about 63 per cent of the families in our territory had telephone service," Gillen writes. "By the end of 1957, the figure had increased to 83 per cent."

Ninety-two per cent of Bell's telephones in Pennsylvania are dial operated, compared with 68 per cent ten years ago.

By the end of 1957, more than 80 per cent of all out-of-town calls were dialed direct to distant telephones, either by the originating operator or by customers.

Despite this rapid change from manual to dial completion of local and out-of-town calls, Bell Company employees numbered 38,680 at the end of 1957, an increase of some 8,000 employees in the last ten years.

Gillen points out that these and other service improvements require additional investment that must be supported by adequate earnings. He emphasizes the point that "good earnings mean low telephone rates

Plans Announced For Expanding of Explorer Scouting

Explorer Scouting in units or boys between the ages of 14 and 18 is the most rapidly growing portion of the local Boy Scout program, according to an announcement of Elmer Morgan, Scout Executive. He pointed out that in the years from 1944 to the end of the current year, Explorer posts will increase in the local area from 4 to 12.

During the same period, packs and troops will have increased from 18 to 45.

Eleven Explorer units are currently meeting. Mr. Morgan pointed out, including two which are preparing their initial registration papers — an Explorer Post in Ludlow and an Air Explorer Squadron in Warren, sponsored by the Warren Aviation club.

Two significant trends are occurring throughout the country according to information received from the national council, which will make changes in Exploring.

First, many high schools are sponsoring Explorer Posts as part of their extra-curricular program. Social, service, and vocational exploration activities of the young men of the high school are then channeled through the post.

Secondly, industries are sponsoring Exploring as special interest groups. One of the outstanding examples of this is in Van Nuys, California, where an industry sponsored Explorer post is specializing in Science, Engineers and Scientists connected with the sponsoring company conduct 6 to 8 week courses on various phases of science, as selected by the explorers themselves.

The Organization and Extension committee of the local council is ready to help local Schools or Industries to set up the older boy program. Interested groups are invited to have a committee of three to five men meet at the Y M C A on March 24 to learn how to proceed.

IN APPRECIATION

I wish to thank all those who remembered me in any way while in the hospital and at home. I appreciated the good care received from the nurses, doctors and aides at Warren General Hospital.

Rotarians Heard Interesting Talk On Local Hospital

Residents of Warren and vicinity can be assured that their hospital is properly equipped and staffed to do a safe and adequate job, because of its having been accredited, according to Joe Williamson, administrator. Speaking to the Warren Rotary Club, he pointed out that less than half of the hospitals in the country have secured such approval, and that it must continue to be merited.

Hospitals can lose their accreditation, if they fail to maintain standards, he pointed out. He pointed out that the local hospital has a good record in controlling secondary infection and in maintaining a low death rate.

Two high school girls were guests of the club; Gail Scholes and Carol Anderson, who also substituted as pianist.

Judge Alexander C. Flick, Jr., reported $3,714.00 reported in contributions to the Warren County probation association.

PARIS FASHIONS FOR 1958 SEASON

In terms of everyday living and the clothes that most American women will wear, the Paris collections offer shorter hemlines, easy fit and back interest in coats and suits. Most of us will not wear Paris designs in their present exaggerated form. Most of us will not wear knee-length skirts. And we will have our choice between the waistless chemise and the shaped sheath, with or without belt. —GAILE DUGAS, NEA Service Women's Editor.

Here's the spoon line as interpreted by designer Jacques Heim. Dress is in lightweight pink-and-white checked wool.

Yves St. Laurent, who designs for the House of Dior, shows what he can do with a daytime dress. This one is a version of his trapeze line, in black and white silk surah. It's nipped in at front waistline with a bow.

Here's another version of the trapeze line by Yves St. Laurent. Brief jacket tops wide, box-pleated skirt which is fanned out over many petticoats. Fabric is gray wool.

Shades of the lampshade dress of the 20's! Here it is in 1958 version from the Paris collections. By Pierre Balmain, it's in aquamarine silk with hemline bordered in matching ostrich feathers.

Mr. Lyon announced that Miss Adams will serve as class advisor for the remainder of the school term because of Orval Borton's illness. The other two senior homeroom teachers are Mr. Praetzel and Mr. Hyatt. Mr. Hyatt is a new addition to the faculty.

Ralph Speas informed the class that graduation announcements and namecards will be ordered in the near future. Plans for class Night are being formulated. It was decided to hold the annual Class Picnic at Conneaut Lake in May.

A number of seniors have been notified they have been accepted in various colleges, and others are planning to enter

Hydetown Police Chief Killed by Freight Train

Hydetown Police Chief Theodore J. Reagle was fatally injured about 1:30 p. m. Monday when his car was squarely rammed by a diesel freight train near Titusville.

According to witnesses, Reagle flew 50 feet through the air with outstretched arms before grinding into a cinder pile on the Pennsylvania Railroad right of way. He died in Titusville Hospital at 5 p. m.

A railroad hand on the wreck train said the car was the "worst mess" he had ever seen in 48 years of experience. The vehicle was pressed flat against a nearby railroad bridge over Thompson Run.

The train hit the passenger side of the automobile. Funeral services will be held Thursday afternoon.

Gra-Y League

McClintock Gra-Y five took the first of a best 2-of-3 series against the North Warrenites at the Y Saturday night.

The win gives the 4th warders a strong chance to wind up the series tomorrow night at the Y when the second tilt is to be staged.

McClintock started out in a run-away, at half time leading by a 18-6 count, but North Warren rallied strongly in the third stanza, behind Seymour's sharp-shooting and closed the gap to four points at one time. However, the lead proved too much to overcome, and McClintock managed to check the rally in the fourth quarter, winning 26-19.

Johnson led the McClintock five with 13 points.

Fullmer Gains A Decisive Win Over Milo Savage

SALT LAKE CITY (AP)—Former middleweight champion Gene Fullmer, 159, staked out his familiar claim to a title fight or a "money" bout today after gaining a unanimous decision over veteran Milo Savage, 160, Salt Lake City.

About the only thing Fullmer earned in the relatively dull 10-round bout last night was his purse, of about $3,600. He never was able to land any effective combinations on the shifty Savage.

His manager Marv Jensen said he would be angling for Fullmer to meet the winner of the Carmen Basilio-Sugar Ray Robinson title fight this month.

"We'll also consider taking on Spider Webb if there's enough money in it," he said. Webb, of Chicago, is the third-ranked middleweight. Fullmer owns the No. 2 rating.

Braves' Holdout List Is Finally Trimmed to Five

By MIKE RATHET
 The Associated Press

The World Champion Braves trimmed their holdout list to five when front-line pitchers Gene Conley and Bob Buhl came to terms yesterday.

General Manager John Quinn still has these to deal with: World Series hero Lew Burdette, reliever Don McMahon, outfielder Wes Covington, shortstop Johnny Logan and first baseman Frank Torre.

The Yankees all but closed their ledgers when Bill Skovron signed leaving Tommy Byrne as the lone holdout of the American League champs.

Dunc Fisher of Hershey, third a week ago, moved into a second-place tie with Jimmy Moore of Cleveland. Fisher picked up three points while Moore had one to give them season's totals of 76 each.

UAW Wins Fight With Chrysler Over Work Week

DETROIT (U)—The United Auto Workers have won their fight with Chrysler Corp. for a 40-hour work week for high-seniority auto workers and layoffs with unemployment benefits for the rest.

With Chrysler employment currently down from 108,000 at this time last year to somewhere around 80,000, the union argues that a full work week for some and unemployment compensation for the others is a better deal than a short work week for all.

Furman Decision

He had identified them as Lawrence, Dilworth, Sen. Clark (D-Pa) and Atty. Gen. Thomas D. McBride. The remaining three expressed jubilation at Lawrence's candidacy.

The lawmakers wrestled with the "draft-Dilworth" issue for more than two hours with both Lawrence and Green clinging to their stonewall opposition to the Philadelphia mayor who was present at the session.

Both reportedly felt that Dilworth damaged party prestige with a recent statement advocating diplomatic recognition of Red China.

Would Make It Illegal To Bet on Numbers

PITTSBURGH (U)—Judge Lorain L. Lewis of Allegheny County would make it illegal to bet on numbers.

"The numbers racket wouldn't last a day if thousands of people didn't support it," Judge Lewis yesterday told the March grand jury which is expected to hear the cases of 17 alleged racket figures on charges of bribing or attempting to bribe police officers.

He said the State Legislature should enact a law making it illegal to play the numbers, adding: "That is the only way you're going to stamp out this vicious racket."

Oils continued their rise of yesterday but mainly by fractions and trading was not active in this group.

The rise was selective. Many leading issues were unchanged and there was a scattering of small losers.

The news continued mixed. Construction contracts for January were reported 10 per cent below year ago figures. Meanwhile progress was made on a new housing bill to stimulate the economy.

C.A.B. Official Denies Talking With Adams

WASHINGTON (U)—A member of the Civil Aeronautics Board denies that he talked over a pending airline case in 1953 with chief White House aide Sherman Adams.

Harmar D. Denny, acting chairman of the CAB at the time, said it was "completely false" to accuse Adams of improper intervention in the case, which involved North American Airlines.

Bernard Schwartz, ousted counsel of a House subcommittee investigating federal regulatory agencies, testified Feb. 17 that North American won extra operating life after Adams took up the case with Denny.

Republicans Kick Off Registration Drive in County

The first of a series of district meetings to kick off an active and organized registration campaign was held last evening at the YWCA by Republican leaders of Warren and adjacent election districts including ward chairmen and workers in the borough, Pleasant, Glade and Conewango townships.

In the absence of Chairman A. M. Gibson, who was attending a state-making meeting in Harrisburg, District Attorney Samuel Bonavita presided. Speakers included former District Attorney Joseph H. Goldstein; Robert L. Ritchie, regional chairman for the group, and Ralph Sires, registration chairman.

State Senator L. E. Chapman, candidate for re-election, was introduced and spoke briefly, expressing appreciation for support received in the past and praising the workers, especially the women, for their interest and enthusiasm. The speaker emphasized the importance of a Republican election this year, to return a Republican administration in Harrisburg. He was roundly applauded. Following the speech-making committee chairmen were provided supplies for the registration campaign, including street lights, registration cards, etc.

It was announced similar district meetings are scheduled for the county during the next week or ten days.

Light refreshments were served by a committee headed by Mrs. George Sarvis of the third ward.

Next Move

(From Page One)

Rep. Joseph O'Hara (R-Minn) asked whether Col. Moore would be given an opportunity to appear or to send a letter to the committee, and whether similar consideration would be afforded "other persons whose names were dragged in."

Harris said the House rules he cited did not apply in the case of Moore, who is not a member of Congress, and that the committee should decide in executive session whether and how it might want to hear from him.

Mack, crushed but protesting he has done no wrong, sent his resignation late yesterday to President Eisenhower who promptly accepted it. Eisenhower had named Mack, a Florida Democrat, to the FCC in July 1955.

The proposals, made public yesterday, called for:

1. A foreign ministers meeting in April to pave the way for a summit conference in June. The foreign ministers would pick agenda, time, place and participants but would keep hands off the issues causing world tension.
2. Equal representation at the summit conference, half from each side of the Iron Curtain rather than the traditional post-war lineup of the United States, Russia, Britain and France.
3. No discussion of German reunification, the major East-West sore point.

U.S. officials said the Soviet still insisted on a headlong rush, as these officials saw it, into a summit conference on Communist terms.

The Western Big Three contend this is the wrong way to try to foster peace.

WASHINGTON (U)—Vice President Nixon is seriously considering a visit to the Soviet Union in September, perhaps in exchange for a trip to the United States by Deputy Soviet Premier Anastas Mikoyan.

Authoritative officials said Nixon might also visit Poland, Yugoslavia and six Western European nations during a five-week tour as President Eisenhower's representative.

Nixon's stop in Moscow, they said, would depend on arranging a visit for a Soviet leader of about equal rank to this country. Mikoyan's name has been mentioned most frequently by diplomatic planners as an acceptable swap but no formal invitation has gone out yet.

Judge Musmanno Asks His Name be Withdrawn

PITTSBURGH (U)—Justice Michael A. Musmanno of the State Supreme Court today requested that his name be withdrawn from consideration as a possible candidate for the Democratic gubernatorial nomination.

The Pittsburgh resident announced his decision in a simultaneous 7 a.m. broadcast over two Pittsburgh radio stations KDKA and WCAE.

Musmanno urged his supporters to support Mayor David Lawrence of Pittsburgh for governor. Top Democratic leaders yesterday endorsed Lawrence.

NEW YORK (U)—Mounting dividend casualty lists are turning the current profit margin squeeze from a statistic to a real pain.

So far this year 126 companies have either cut or omitted dividend payments, almost twice the number (65) that increased them. This is a full reversal of the trend a year ago.

Almost two thirds of the 1956 cuts, omissions and deferrals came in February. Stock market observers theorize that the January cuts and omissions may have reflected the reduced earnings of many firms in 1957 and that the February setbacks may have shown still more the feeling of boards of directors about earnings prospects ahead.

In both months most companies maintained their old dividend rates. But in many cases this was done in the face of declining earnings.

"Those paying the old rates often are doing so by increasing sharply the percentage of the net income after taxes to be paid to stockholders—that is, by reducing sharply the amount the companies retain for growth and operating expenses.

The same pattern was followed in the two previous postwar recessions—1949 and 1953-54. This leads many stock traders to believe that most companies will continue this time to pay the same dividends, even if less is plowed back into the business. This presupposes the recession will be mild and short.

In this belief, most selling has been on the news of, or prospects of, individual dividend cuts. The stock list as a whole has held fairly steady in the first two months.

The Associated Press index of 60 stocks started the year at 154.7 and ended February at 159.2—or a gain for the two months of 4.5, but the picture for February alone wasn't that pleasant. Affected by other things, of course, than dividend cutting, the index which has ended January at 162.6 was down 3.4 when February ended.

Some feel the worst in dividend cutting may be over, just as they hold that the sharpest drop in business is past.

Many brokers, believing that a higher percentage of dividend payments to earnings will be in effect most of the year, contend that total dividend payments should hold close to or equal the record 12 1/2 billion dollars in 1957.

In that year the average payout was 60 per cent, compared with 57 per cent in 1956. These brokers contend that the payout could go above 60 per cent without strain on corporate finances.

They note that there is less pressure on many companies now to retain profits for expanding the business. The big capital goods boom slowed down months ago and now such spending is on the decline.

Also noted is that so far many of the reduced dividends, and the omissions, were by marginal companies, or by those in industries with a marked cyclical trend—in other words, a dividend change that may be expected every few years and, therefore, not setting a pattern for industry as a whole.

Italian Paper Counsels Roman Catholic Church

ROME (U)—Leading Italian newspapers warned the Roman Catholic Church today to moderate its anger at the conviction of a bishop by an Italian court.

The case has snowballed into what looks like the gravest clash between church and state in Italy since the Lateran pacts were signed 29 years ago.

Catholic Italy was shocked when Pope Pius XII canceled ceremonies celebrating the March 12 anniversary of his coronation "in bitterness, sadness and outrage."

State 4-H Meat Animal Champ

Ellen Allbeck, 16, of Columbia county, is a Pennsylvania girl who believes that livestock is both fun and fundamental to an all-around farm. Named 1957 state winner of the 4-H Meat Animal program, Miss Allbeck received a smart pen and pencil set in recognition of her selection, the gift of Thos. E. Wilson, donor of awards.

Success has become a byword in this 4-Hers Meat Animal project since 1939. She placed a close second for the state 4-H Meat Animal crown last year. This year she repeated as a three-time grand champion, in the baby beef shows at Columbia county fair with her prize-winning Hereford.

In addition, Miss Allbeck was a member of the Columbia county swine judging team that finished eighth in the state. Previously, she exhibited the reserve breed champion.

She now is president of the local 4-H Club and secretary-treasurer of the county group.

The Cooperative Extension Service directs the 4-H Meat Animal program, which is arranged by the National Committee on Boys and Girls Club Work

Ruling of Unemployment Compensation Board Scored

HARRISBURG (AP) — The State Justice Department turned to a seldom-used prerogative today and opposed another state agency's decision denying jobless benefits to a person who pleaded the 5th Amendment.

Atty. Gen. Thomas D. McBride said he was the "legal conscience" of the commonwealth and that he was duty-bound to seek reversal of a ruling recently handed down by the Unemployment Compensation Board of Review.

"It is not usual for the legal officer of a government to ask a court to reverse the action of the government's own agency or to confess error in the position previously asserted by the government," he said.

McBride took his position in a brief prepared for argument before the State Superior Court in Harrisburg next week.

The appeal was carried by a steelworker who was fired for pleading the 5th Amendment before a U.S. Senate committee when he was asked about possible Communist connections.

The board of review ruled that this constituted willful misconduct and that he should be denied unemployment compensation.

McBride and Deputy Atty. Gen. Harry Rubin said in the brief that the board was advised that a denial of benefits would be improper.

"The board disregarded that advice and denied benefits," said McBride. "It's action is contrary both to the statute and to the Pennsylvania and U.S. constitutions."

The Superior Court is expected to find itself in the position of hearing arguments from both sides that the Board of Review's decision was wrong.

Noting this, McBride said in his printed brief:

"The attorney general is not simply an instrument of the government he serves; he is also its legal conscience."

"Where governmental action is oppressive and improper, it is the attorney general's duty to uphold the administration of justice in the commonwealth and to seek reversal of the action taken."

The substance of the commonwealth's argument is that the steelworker exercised a constitutional right in refusing to testify on grounds it may incriminate him.

McBride cited three recent U.S. Supreme Court cases which he said indicated "an impatience with those who draw conclusions of disloyalty and the like from validly pleaded or asserted constitutional rights."

Houston Officials Have Bad Memory Lapse

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — City officials of Morgan's Point and Lomax plumb forgot that the deadline for filing petitions for the April 1 local elections was last Saturday.

"I had forgotten we were going to have an election," Morgan's Point City Secretary E. C. Bustin said.

Mayor E. R. Meeks of Lomax said in all probability the City Council would "go ahead and let the people file. If anyone wants to protest, we'll just be in a jam."

Mayor A. M. Polker of Morgan's Point said he would have to see what could be done.

Of course, they could hold an election with no names on the ballots.

Morgan's Point had 1,100 residents and Lomax 700.

Evidence Goes Boom In Recorders Court

DETROIT (AP) — A pint of evidence went "boom" during a bootleg trial in Recorders Court. A bottle of confiscated moonshine exploded in the pocket of Detroit police officer Jack Hughes a few minutes before the trial of Macy Leggett Jr., 22.

Judge John P. O'Hara ruled the smell of Hughes' pocket was evidence enough. Leggett was sentenced to 30 days in jail for selling liquor without a license.

CLOSE ELECTION

Your money and your bank

Based on
"USING YOUR BANK"
By Dr. George L. Lefler
Professor of Finance, The Pennsylvania State University

Banks contributed greatly to the nation's efforts during World War II by promoting and selling about 80% of all the war bonds... and at no expense to the government.

In peace time too, banks act as agents of the Federal Government in handling bond sales. Bank employees have descriptive folders explaining the different issues and listing the various rates of interest paid.

After an individual has decided upon a bond investment program, the bank will handle his purchases if desired. Banks can set up regular buying programs for customers on the Bond-A-Month Plan, arrange for the redemption of coupons on interest-bearing bonds and handle the redemption of bonds which have matured. All these services are performed without charge to the customer. Many people use this banking service to build up cash reserves in excess of regular savings and to support the national economy.

Here's the biggest savings story of the year! And here's why.

It all starts with Ford's new dream of a drive called Cruise-O-Matic... the newest, most versatile, most automatic of them all! Two new driving ranges let you choose your starts for the road conditions that exist. For example, in most of the driving you'll do, you can take off lively as a spring lamb if you wish. And on snow, ice or any slippery road surface, with the extra driving range you can get rolling sure, steady and silky-smooth.

Now, team this all-new automatic with Ford's new Thunderbird-powered V-8 (with up to 300 hp) and you get as much as 15% better gas mileage, too! That's because a special gas-saving rear axle ratio is used to give you "built-in" overdrive economy.

And based on factory suggested retail delivered prices, a Cruise-O-Matic Ford is priced lowest of the low-price three with comparable equipment.

So, with Thunderbird go... down-to-earth gas savings... plus Ford's traditionally low prices and high resale return... you have the best reasons in the world to make yourself a deal on a new Cruise-O-Matic Ford! Why not see your Ford Dealer... tomorrow?

THE LONG AND SHORT OF IT—Showing how a low man reaches a high note (with aid of a chair) is Mike Combs, 4' 8", practicing a trombone lesson with Gail Mutchmore, 6' 2". Both boys are members of the Lincoln High School Band in Vincennes, Ind. Mutchmore, not surprisingly, is also a member of the basketball team.

WINTER'S WIRE WHEEL — Old Man Winter was the mechanic who worked on the wheel of this car to give it the wire-spoked effect. Spotted by a winter-conscious photographer at Scottsbluff, Neb., both front wheels of an auto, driven to town by a salesman, sported the snazzy sports car look. The rear wheels featured nothing but the usual road dirt.
